

Washington's Naval Station.

Sidney, Kitsap connty, had quite a jubilee last week on the occasion of Lieutenant A. B. Wyckoff, of the United States navy, taking formal possession in the name of the government of the Port Orchard naval station site. The lieutenant read an order from the secretary of the navy detailing him as commandaut of the naval station at Point Turner from September 15, 1891, to September 15, 1892, and his daughter at a word from her father raised the stars and stripes to the top of the staff. The lieutenant congratulated the people who had assembled, who responded with cheers. It is said that contracts for building the dry dock will soon be let and the work commenced.
